The Karger journal Respiration presents the Chris Bolliger Award and Graves' Orbitopathy receives a 'Highly Commended' prize by the British Medical Association (BMA)

Outstanding scientific article in Karger journal Respiration

The journal Respiration presents researchers with the Chris Bolliger Award for an outstanding article in the field of research of the Respiratory System. The article "Safety of Cryo-Transbronchial Biopsy in Diffuse Lung Diseases: Analysis of Three Hundred Cases" has made an impact in the field of research of the Respiratory System" for which its authors have been honored: Evgeni Gershman, Oren Fruchter, Fox Benjamin, Abed Rahman Nader, Dror Rosengarten, Victoria Rusanov, Ludmila Fridel, and Mordechai R. Kramer from the Pulmonary Institute and Pathology Institute, Rabin Medical Center, Petah Tikva, Israel. The Editor-in-Chief of the journal is Professor Felix Herth. The award ceremony took place at the European Respiratory Society Congress 2018 in Paris, France.

The journal Respiration has dedicated the award to the late Chris Bolliger, an outstanding scientist in pulmonology and former Editor-in-Chief of Respiration. In accordance with the work and vision of Chris Bolliger the prize is awarded to scientists who present true science in an evidence-based approach and have published an original article in the journal.

Karger publication Graves' Orbitopathy highly commended by BMA

Karger Publishers is pleased to announce that the publication Graves' Orbitopathy: A Multidisciplinary Approach - Questions and Answers was highly commended by the British Medical Association (BMA) Book Award in the category Surgical Specialties this year. In the third, revised and expanded edition, new chapters have been added on co-morbidity, local treatment modalities, novel immunosuppressive therapy, detailed protocols, and questions frequently asked by patients. "This success reflects the high standards applied to the Karger book releases every year," commented Thomas Nold, Publication Manager at Karger Publishers. BMA is the trade union and professional body for doctors in the UK. Its annual BMA Medical Book Awards recognize outstanding contributions to medical literature.
