Strong Impact Factors 2018 for Karger Publishers

Karger Publishers' journals have seen their Impact Factors increase in 2018 in many subject areas, including Endocrinology, and Psychiatry and Psychology.

This year's release of the Journal Citation Reports (JCR) by Clarivate Analytics contained especially good news for Karger Publishers' European Thyroid Journal, as it has newly obtained an Impact Factor (IF) of 3.025. The official journal of the European Thyroid Association joins another strong Karger journal in the field of Endocrinology: Neuroendocrinology increased its IF by more than 20% to 6.804. The IF star at Karger Publishers is still the journal Psychotherapy and Psychosomatics (IF 13.744), ranking 4th among the psychology and psychiatry journals listed in the Science Citation Index Expanded (SCIE).

"We are proud of our journal portfolio in health sciences," says Gabriella Karger, Chairwoman and Publisher at Karger Publishers. "The continued success of our journals is also founded in the excellent work of our Editors and Editors-in-Chief. We are happy and thankful for our longstanding relationships with them."

"The Impact Factor is still a commonly used means for researchers to compare journals in their subject area to find the one that best fits their purpose, and we appreciate the additional value we're providing to researchers via the increased impact factors" adds Daniel Ebnetter, CEO at Karger Publishers. "However, we're equally aware that in the future, new metrics will be required – especially at the article and researcher level – in order to fulfill the needs of all stakeholders in the research cycle. Karger actively participates in such discussions."
